Efforts Under Way to Induce President to Accept Modified Plan.

(By Associated Press.) Paris—It was stated at the foreign office Wednesday that negotiations were under way between the French embassy in Washington and the state department in an effort to induce President Harding to favor acceptance of a modified league of nations.

The French position is conciliatory, and is believed to relate to expressions by officials connected with the present Washington administration, made during the peace conference.

INITIATIVE SAID TO BE WITH FRANCE

Washington administration officials withheld comment on the statement that negotiations were under way between the French embassy and the state department with regard to the acceptance of a modified league of nations. The impression was given that the initiative in any such development rested with the French government and that in any event the matter had not yet reached the stage of negotiations.

Secretary Hughes refused to discuss the question. It became known that on last Tuesday he had a half-hour talk with Ambassador Jusserand before the presentation of the diplomatic corps. Whether the subject of the league of nations was broached has not been made known.

Domestic Affairs First.

President Harding has indicated his first steps in foreign affairs would be taken after the completion of a definite domestic reconstruction program and that nothing formal would be done until the attitude of foreign governments had been felt out through unofficial channels.

Mr. Harding already has received considerable information through unofficial sources regarding the feeling of European statesmen and it is expected he will make a still more exhaustive investigation before he launches his foreign program.

The forthcoming visit of former Premier Viviani and a special mission and the return of Ambassador Davis from London are regarded as opening two important avenues of information.

GERMAN STRIKE IS BEING RUMORED

issued a new proclamation saying that the German delegates at the London conference showed unwillingness to observe the Versailles treaty and that the allies were forced to fulfill its obligations.

Not Hostile to People.

He has laid emphasis on the fact that the occupation is in no sense hostile act toward the population and that not only was the freedom to work guaranteed but the allied authorities would do their best to improve the condition of the people and assure an ample food supply. He has stated that the people must obey any regulations that may be laid down.

While the presence of the allied troops has been accepted in good grace by most of the people, business men are worried over the consequences of the new customs system. This instrument is among those kept in large business houses amounting to $5,000,000 marks.

Fear Higher Costs.

People of the middle and working classes fear that there will be an increase in the cost of living. They are buying in stocks of provisions and are, besides, storing in some cases. Fear is expressed that stocks of food will be rapidly exhausted.

IMPROVE COURSE AT TRADE SCHOOL

The equipment of the commercial department of the Vocational school is being enlarged by J. M. Dorrans, director who has added two calculators. This instrument is among those kept in large business houses and pupils will be taught to use it.

HOLT PRESIDES AT MADISON MEETING

Supt. Frank O. Holt went to Madison Thursday morning to attend a meeting of Normal school presidents and city superintendents at which he will preside. Relations between the schools and normal schools will be the topic of discussion. He will also attend the teachers convention Friday and Saturday.

DIRECTOR BACK AFTER ACCIDENT

Arthur Berkman, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. who broke his ribs in a wrestling match Saturday has resumed his work at the Y. M. C. A. and held his first class of the week Wednesday night.

The seniors will start their practice for the Rotunda camp circus, Thursday evening.

MANY TO ATTEND BASKETBALL MEET

Many pupils of the High school will go to Whitewater Friday to witness the basketball game. There will be no school sessions in the city schools owing to the teachers' convention at Madison.

The Y. M. C. A. is planning a bicycle hike to Beloit on the new concrete road. They will take their lunch and return in the afternoon.

Girls of Canada Learn Art of Cooking and Sewing

Winnipeg, Man.—Painting a masterpiece or writing a "best seller" is not the only thing that requires high art. It may be found in the baking of lemon cream pie with a three-inch drift of frosting; or in fashioning a chic little afternoon frock that radiates creative genius. Such art is being rapidly developed among the girls of Canada. Meantime, thousands of boys—some 25,000 in this province alone—are learning the art of livestock raising, scientific grain growing and modern dairying. The work is being carried on through Boys and Girls clubs, working in co-operation with the public schools and the agricultural colleges. Government aid is extended. The Manitoba expenditures last year totaling over $20,000 were largely for prizes for prizes at fairs held for display of the children's handiwork.

BULLETIN OUT MONDAY

The first publication of the school bulletin for teachers of the city schools will be issued Monday by Supt. Frank Holt. He has adopted this method in order to keep in detail on various educational problems which cannot be discussed owing to lack of time at teachers' meetings. The paper will be printed on the mimeograph.

$2,300 FOR SCHOOLS

The total bills of the school system for the month of February were paid and passed by the board of education at its monthly meeting totaled $2,311.70.

HAMON MURDER TRIAL OPENS IN ARDMORE

Ham announced her intention of appearing as a witness for the state and attending all sessions of the trial. Attorney General Prentiss said he would request that Mrs. Hamon be not placed under the rule requiring witnesses to be excluded from the courtroom. Frank L. Ketch, administrator for the Hamon estate, and Sam Elahi, Chicago newspaper man, the first because of his interest in the case, and the second because of journalistic duties.

Neighbors She Did Not Act

In a final statement before the trial Thursday, Mrs. Hamon said she was not present at the scene of the murder. She had not taken action against the man she accused of killing.

In a statement made in the presence of a father, her 10-year-old son, Jake Jr., Fred Ellis, former lawyer for the defendant, and Mrs. Katherine S. Reid, Ardmore newspaper woman, Mrs. Hamon said she had debated with herself many times whether to throw acid in Clara's face. She had not done so because she was not beautiful and attract Hamon's attention. With tears in her eyes Mrs. Hamon said she never could bring herself to that point.

"Oh! If I only had," she repeated.

WRONG NAME IN FALSE TEETH SUIT

Some one else makes errors besides the newspapers.

Even the attorneys slip once in a while when juggling names and titles, despite the walls and grinning of a host of some lawyers when their views on a litigation are not reported as they desire.

Through the oversight of an attorney, the action of Mrs. Hamon for collection of a set of false teeth, has been placed on the court calendar as being against Sara Scofield. The name of the defendant is Harriet Scofield. The error was corrected on the circuit court records today.

The case is set on the day calendar and will be tried Thursday afternoon unless settlement is arranged. The case was appealed following judgment from a justice of peace in Janesville.

They Are Increasing Rail Rates Over in Manila

Manila—The Manila railroad company has made application to the public utility commission for permission to increase freight rates approximately 25 per cent. The increase is in wages and the cost of materials and supplies. There has been a deficit each month for several months past in the operation of the property. The statement says the Manila railroad represents an investment of approximately $22,000,000 and that on account of the constantly increasing cost of materials and the high wages paid to employees only one small dividend has been paid on the stock of the company for many years.

Philippine Islands Send More Cigars to U. S.

Manila—Shipments of cigars from the Philippine Islands to the United States during 1920 showed an increase of 60,022,016 over 1919, according to the annual report of the bureau of internal revenue. The total shipments of cigars to the United States during the last year were 521,616,552, compared to 261,534,267 in 1919. Shipments of cigars fell from 3,100 in 1919 to 2,949 in 1920. Shipments of partially manufactured cigars showed a large increase during the year 1920, the total being 2,649,141 pounds against 417,556 pounds in 1919.

Glassco Asks Farmers To Order Legumes Now

Rock county farmers are urged to send in their orders for legume culture to their orders from the agricultural department of the university through the county agent. Hundreds of bottles of the bacteria germs will be secured by County Agent R. T. Glassco to be distributed among Rock county farmers.

Before the agricultural department allowed credit for the payment of the culture. This year they demand cash in advance. It is hoped to pool the orders, obtain definite information as to how much is desired and then order through the Farm Bureau. This will enable the farmers to obtain the culture without delay.

Needed by Farmers.

"It is a good plan for any farmer who is going to grow legumes to determine as early as possible how much of the bacteria culture he needs," said the county agent Thursday.

"It is important for the bacteria to be used on a new field. The cost is but 25 cents a bottle and one bottle is enough to treat 20 pounds of seed."

"Last year we distributed more than 400 bottles and expect orders for at least that much this year. The culture is easy to apply and it is one of the best methods of enriching the soil. It is easy to use. The culture is dissolved in warm water and placed on the seed. The only precaution is against allowing the treated seed to be exposed to strong sunlight," he was said.

Meetings in Townships.

Importance of neighborhood demonstrations will be discussed during the township Farm Bureau meetings to be held in Cedar and Thursday night in Magnolia Friday night. County Agent R. T. Glassco will speak at both meetings.

The show "Deacon Dubbs," which has been presented so successfully by the Plymouth township bureau, will be given Saturday night in Clinton.

Dairy Men Agree.

A definite outline of work will be arranged between the co-operative farm bureau associations of southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois as a result of a meeting held by the dairy committee of the Illinois Agriculture association in Chicago Wednesday.

The meeting was attended by R. T. Glassco.

There has been an over-lapping of work between the Chicago Farm Bureau and the Wisconsin Farm Bureau co-operative companies. Agreement is to be reached on what branch of work is to be undertaken by each organization.

STUDENTS WHO WORK DO BEST IN COLLEGE

Milwaukee—Students employed outside of school hours are nearly equal in scholarship and class standing to those not employed, in the opinion of Marquette university deans and teachers. Regent John Daily, of the Journalism school, Vice President John P. Nichols and Dean Charles Atkinson of the Economics school, are all of the opinion that the scholastic standings of the students who worked were generally better than those of the other students.

All the engineers work part time under a co-operative system. The medical students are the only ones who must keep their noses close to the grindstone to the exclusion of all outside work.

As an example to the variety of work done, the employment bureau, according to Richard Mahoney, in charge, lists an account of business titles of some of the students: Post-office clerks, machine shop workers, factory workers, conductors, soldiers, writers, library clerks, ushers, oil station tenders, photographers, truckers, elevator operators, teachers and athletic coaches.

Potato Growing Contest Planned for Youths

Marquette—A potato growing contest is to be started in Marquette county by County Agricultural Agent Sibole for boys and girls, according to an announcement. Each boy and girl entering the contest must agree to plant two and one-half bushels of potatoes. Prizes will be given to those having the best tubers. The potatoes produced will be judged on four major points—size of field, 35 per cent; records, 15 per cent; production, 25 per cent; and exhibit, 25 per cent. According to Mr. Sibole, the potatoes must be shown at the county potato show which will take place next fall, in order to win prizes.

Green Bay—Capt. Theodore Denness, 54, former owner of the steamer John Denness and North Denness, two of the best known vessels on Lake Michigan and Green Bay, died here Wednesday night.

LOWEST PRICES ON HIDES AND BELTS

Dealers in hides and belts in the city are now paying lower prices for them than before, the market price having been raised all over the country. Hides bring 4 cents per pound, sheep pelts, 25 cents apiece, and calf skins 4 cents per pound.

TO ATLANTIC CITY.

L. O. Holman, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, will represent the Chamber at the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce at Atlantic City, April 27 and 28. This was decided by the board of directors Wednesday.

Y. M. C. A. MEN'S MEET.

The Wisconsin Physical Director's society will hold its annual meeting at Milwaukee April 6-7. A. E. Bergman, of the Janesville Y. M. C. A., is a member of the committee arranging the program. Ar C. Preston will probably speak.

Country Club Is Organized in Edgerton

Articles of incorporation were filed Thursday at the office of Frank P. Smiley, register of deeds, for the organization of the Edgerton Country Club.

The country club is to be organized without capital stock for the providing of a golf course, pavilions for golf and other athletics according to the date of incorporation. The club will be run without pecuniary profits.

The officers are to be president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, with a board of directors of six members.

Those who signed the articles of incorporation were Andrew McInnis, W. F. Abbot, Henry Johnson, William McIntosh, J. P. Hruska, J. M. Conway, W. Dickenson and O. J. Jensen. The club membership will be limited to people over 21 years of age, according to the incorporation articles.

PACKING EMPLOYEES APPEAL TO HARDING

Strike Looms If Packers Do Not Rescind Wage Reductions.

(By Associated Press.) Omaha—A program of action in the event of a strike of packing house employees is called, was the principal business before the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen delegates at their conference Thursday.

A referendum strike vote would be taken Monday if a satisfactory answer to the telegraphic appeal to President Harding was not forthcoming by that date, according to union officials. The telegram sent Wednesday night asked the president to urge the packers to hold in observance wage and hour changes until the secretary of labor can investigate the case.

Send Message to Gompers.

The part allied unions working for the packers will play if a walkout is decided upon was to be tentatively outlined Thursday. Dennis Lane, secretary of the meat cutters union, dispatched a telegram Wednesday night to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, asking him to call a meeting of those allied unions in Chicago early next week.

Unanimous for Strike.

The delegates here were said to be unanimous in favor of striking Monday when the announced wage reductions go into effect, unless the packers rescind their wage and hour change notices. A referendum strike vote will be necessary before definite action can be taken.

Injunction Proceedings to Prevent any Reduction of Wages or Readjustment of Working Hours or Readjustment of Hours of Striking Monday.

Vienna—A demand for immediate delivery of all the military matter not yet surrendered under the treaty of St. Germain was made by the allied representative here Thursday and it is understood the cabinet agreed to comply unreservedly. It is believed the action of the allied representatives was inspired by the German situation coupled with the long delay in delivery and the more or less passive resistance to this feature of the treaty.

COURT GETS FACTS ON SHERIFF CASE

Grimm to Decide This Week Whether Sheriff Can Succeed Himself.

Following the filing of a demurrer by Attorney J. C. Griffin, Janesville arguments were made before Judge Grimm in the celebrated Mitchell case, coming here from Green county.

Briefs are to be filed and decision on the demurrer will be given by Judge Grimm by next Thursday.

The case is founded on an interesting technical legal question, determining whether the sheriff, George Grimm, in electing himself to the office, is committing a misdemeanor.

Farmers Relief Money Is Limited to $200. (By Associated Press.) Washington.—Under regulations approved today by Secretary Wallace to govern $2,000,000 loans to farmers in drought-stricken areas of the north-central and south-central states, individual farmers are limited to $200 and not more than $2 an acre. C. W. Warburton, of the bureau of plant industry, was Saturday for Eugene W. D. to take charge of the loan distribution through county agents. The money will be available for purchasing wheat, oats, barley and flax seed for planting to be secured by chattel mortgages as a prior lien on the crop to be grown. All loans will be due November 1.

Governor's Rent Veto Sent to Committee. (By Associated Press.) Madison.—The senate, Thursday morning, voted 22 to 8 to refer the governor's veto message to the committee on finance for consideration. Senator Bird said that it seemed that the executive had erred in his statement of the fact that the rent bill would cost $200 monthly for public utility service. The railroad commission was upheld by Senator Timothy Burke, who declared that the veto was to be referred to the committee on finance and the bill passed again. Motion of Senator Skogmo to send the measure back to committee was taken up and considered despite the protest of administration men.

THINGS ARE HAPPENING AT MADISON.
The legislature is smashing things into smithereens at Madison. Glimmering into oblivion have gone the legislative hopes of the lawmakers, who have hoped to add a few thousand pages to the statutes of the state. Regulation of everything from pennants to tideclimbs will not be accomplished. And the taxpayers' money will have some care in expenditure. The finance committee of the assembly killed bills on Monday with ruthless slaughter. In the senate the measure to submit a constitutional amendment to permit the state to follow in the footsteps of North Dakota with state-owned elevators and warehouses, has been killed. This is the one showing of the non-partisan league and LaFollette combination. It won by five votes in the assembly. It is the first of the non-partisan league program features and threatens to be made an issue two years hence when another campaign is being carried on by the carpet baggers from North Dakota in Wisconsin.
One of the big, commandingly important things for the legislature to settle is the educational contest between conflicting boards and departments. The board of education of the state ought to be wiped out. The politics in the office of the state superintendent's office should be eliminated. Authority should be centralized. Mr. Cary spends too much time defending his office and the board of education has simply got in the way of good school management. The state needs cleaning and then a new cohesive plan, one that will have to do with all education paid for by the public, can be adopted. It does not seem that any one bill before the educational committees fully covers this, but the legislature is working to some definite solution of the interlocking and obstructive system of administration.

THE END OF THE FIRST NON-PARTISAN DREAM.
With the vote in the assembly of 52 to 38, the non-partisan league scheme to have the constitution so amended that the state could go into business, has been killed. Thus another snake has been scotched and the state of Wisconsin has been saved from a start in the direction of state socialism that has proved so disastrous in North Dakota. One of the peculiar things about the North Dakota proposition is the persistent way in which the non-partisan league continues its efforts to deceive the public. But the fact is so apparent that the league has had the whole machinery of government for two years and with that machinery has wrecked the finances of the state, that it is impossible to pick on any other outside or internal influence contributing to the disaster. The league alone is to blame.

WILLIAM B. BAINES.
In the death of William B. Baines at the ripe age of 91, another leading figure of the last sixty years in the life of Rock county has passed away and left an unfilled vacancy. He brought to Rock county a sturdy and unswerving determination to win from the soil and bought the farm famed in history as the one in which Francis Willard was born and where he had been reared in early childhood. William Baines witnessed much of the period of civilization that advanced the world in a half century beyond the dreams of a thousand years. One by one Rock county marks off from the list of the living those who have not only seen but been a part of the remarkable changes wrought in 75 years. Mr. Baines was among those who have contributed much by their high character and sterling qualities to the upbuilding of the community.

The candidacy of Mrs. David W. Holmes for member of the Board of Education from the new sixth ward is a matter of congratulation to the citizens of that ward and the city. Typhus!
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN
New York City.—The typhus germ cannot be Americanized. It is one European product that must be kept out of the well-worn melting-pot; one danger which cannot be accepted and absorbed even by such an indiscriminating nation as ours. Immigrants may be compelled to suffer hardship; travelers be inconvenienced; and steamship companies lose money, but the typhus cootie must be prevented from entering this country.
Everybody is agreed as to this: only there are various disagreements as to how it is to be done, and the nation as a whole seems to be painfully slow in making up its mind.
Already 40 cases of typhus have occurred in New York City and its harbor, with several deaths as a result. Nearly every ship arriving from a foreign port carries infected immigrants, while thousands of others, suspected of the same condition, will continue to wait for the country as fast as it is crowded space to accommodate them.
Yet the New York City Health Department has been severely criticized in some quarters for adopting prompt and rigorous measures to bar typhus vermin, and only in the past few days have the Federal health authorities been given permission to act in the matter.
"The importance of the typhus danger cannot be overestimated," Dr. Royal S. Copeland, health Commissioner of New York City, told the reporter in a brief interview the other afternoon. "Some people are inclined to think that we have raised a rather needless scare, but that is because they are unacquainted with typhus. They do not know that it is one of the deadliest scourges to which mankind is victim. They do not know that more men died of typhus in Serbia during the war than were killed in battle. They do not realize that one infected immigrant, released, might cause a million deaths in the space of a few weeks."
Dr. Copeland was the first person to recognize the fact that a typhus emergency existed. As soon as the first cases were discovered, he notified the immigration authorities and stationed fumigating squads at the Battery to inspect immigrants arriving in the city from Ellis Island. Many were found to be vermin-infested and had to be put through the de-lousing process. Others carried bundles and suitcases containing infected clothing.

This caused a great deal of consternation at both Ellis Island and Hoffman's Island, the quarantine station, where the immigrants had been passed without question. The health authorities at both of these places immediately started making special inspections for typhus infection, which naturally required much more time than the ordinary health inspections. They were delayed in their work by the lack of proper facilities. Ships, with steerage passengers who had to be examined, began to pile up in the harbor, and thus arose the present congested condition.
The Federal authorities have recently taken over the state quarantine station at Hoffman's Island, but inasmuch as the facilities have not been improved, conditions are not noticeably improved. Reporters are not permitted to add to the general chaos at Hoffman's Island, but from the stories of returned travelers, one learns that the immigrants have a sad time there.
"It was early in the morning," said a Frenchman who came to the immigrants on our ship in a small tug-boat," narrated an American woman who arrived on a French ship the other day. "They began to transfer the infected or suspected immigrants at once, but not without a fight, because the French officials objected, saying that the immigrants were perfectly clean. The poor people, having come from Italy and the south of France, were not prepared for a cold climate. Their clothing was distressingly cold and they trembled with cold. Those who did not get typhus probably got pneumonia later. Mothers were dragged away from their children and all bundled into the tug. Many of them could not speak English and did not understand what it was all about. They kept them over there at Hoffman's Island all day waiting for examinations, and during all that time they did not have a thing to eat. Of course, I suppose the government cannot help it, but I do think something ought to be done."
This woman's ship was fortunate, however, to be held up only 24 hours. Others have had to lie in the harbor for two or three days while the quarantine office caught up with its work. On one of these detained ships, the immigrants recently staged a rebellion, threatening in the choicest words of several different languages to do some damage if they were not permitted to leave the boat. Then, as they were not released, they carried out their threat. They broke some furniture and smashed the water pipes. Nevertheless, they had to remain there the rest of the day, and the ship's stewards got even by charging them 50 cents per cup for drinking water.

The immigrants, moreover, are not the only ones who are not enjoying the present situation. The steamship companies find it equally difficult. Every day they are held up in the harbor means a large money loss, for not only must they lose valuable time but they must continue feeding their passengers. One large steamship company has placed one of its vessels at the disposal of the quarantine officials as a detention ship for immigrants, who are transferred to it for examination while the ship that brought them continues on its way. Under the emergency ruling, no craft from a foreign port can approach within 300 yards of a New York pier without a permit, granted only after the most rigid inspection.
One hears vague rumors that the steamship companies are establishing their own quarantine plants on the European seaboard, but no definite information seems to be available on this point. Many people feel that it is up to the foreign governments to take the necessary precautions against the spread of typhus, and to prevent any but clean immigrants from embarking for this country. The foreign government, however, do not seem to agree with this view. The Italian Government, in fact, has even resented the charge that any infected immigrants could possibly come from Italian shores, although the fact remains that they have.

To avoid the congestion in New York harbor, many steamship lines are now diverting their vessels to other ports, notably Boston and Philadelphia. From these points the immigrants come to New York by rail, thus making it necessary for the city health department to keep inspection squads also at the railway stations. Fortunately, here the New York Travelers' Aid Society has come to the rescue and is taking care of family groups while their various members are removed for examination and fumigation.
"Sometimes while a husband is sent away to be freed from vermin," one of the Travelers' Aids told the reporter, "the wife thinks he is being dragged off to Siberia. Then we have to push our interpreter to the scene to explain the matter to her. So many of the people are war refugees, who have already suffered so much that their anxieties are easily aroused."

If the man is detained for any great length of time, the Aids see that the children get food and that the family obtains proper lodgings. Sometimes as many as 25 such families must be taken care of out of a group of a hundred or more who come through on one train.
While precautions against the typhus cootie are ever becoming more systematized, the congestion remains unrelieved at the port of New York. The health authorities are putting up a valiant fight against tremendous handicaps. They need more men, more facilities. Congress, they say, could solve the whole typhus emergency at once by ordering a cessation of immigration until the disease subsided in Europe, but Congress has its own reasons for desiring immigration to continue.

The least, then, that it can do is to authorize an increase in the size of the force and working materials at Hoffman's and Ellis Island, and thus help to prevent the spread of the plague.
Mr. Voliva says the world is flat—about 1/2 of 1 per cent do.

I MUSTN'T FORGET
I mustn't forget that I'm getting old.
That's the worst thing ever a man can do.
I must keep in mind without being told.
That old ideas must give to the new.
Let me be always on my guard.
Never a crabbly old man to be.
Youth is too precious to have it marred.
By the cranky whims of a man like me.
I must remember that customs change.
As I've had my youth an' my hair is star.
Mustn't be too surprised at strange.
Or starlin' things that the youngsters say.
Mustn't keep the bit in their mouths too tight.
Which is something old people are apt to do.
What used to be wrong may today be right.
An' it may not be wrong just becuz it's new.
Want 'em to like me an' want to know
That I need their laughter an' mirth an' song,
An' I want 'em near, coz I love 'em so.
An' home is the place where their smiles belong.
They're growin' up, an' it seems so queer
To hear them talk of the views they hold.
But age with youth shouldn't interfere.
An' I mustn't forget that I'm gettin' old.

FOODS WHICH FURNISH IODINE
Iodine is one of the dozen or more elements which are essential to health and life, and it is just as important to know something of the food sources of iodine for the human body as it is to know which foods furnish phosphorus or calcium or iron to the body.
Iodine is so familiar as an essential element in the human body that it is often a valuable medicine; vitamins present in cod liver oil are another reason.
In the salt from certain regions there is so much iodine that some investigators obtain the iodine by evaporating the sea water and then extracting the iodine from the salt. This is the source of all the iodine of nature.
Cod liver oil contains considerable iodine, which is one of the reasons why cod liver oil is often a valuable medicine; vitamins present in cod liver oil are another reason.

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing the Janesville Gazette, Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This office will answer strictly to information, and will not be responsible for legal, medical, and financial matters. It does not attempt to give advice, but will endeavor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question and include the name of the newspaper and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)
Q. Can a person have smallpox twice?
A. H. T.
Q. The Public Health Service says that there have been a few instances in which persons have had smallpox twice.
A. J. C. B.
Q. Please give me the date of the construction of an old toll road from Philadelphia to Harrisburg and on west?
A. The road you have in mind was called the old Lancaster Turnpike. It was started in 1782 by the Lancaster Turnpike company; was completed in 1784. It completed as far as Harrisburg or thereabout. This work covered 32 miles. The road was continued from there west to Pittsburgh. The final date of completion is unknown. The Lancaster Turnpike is the oldest toll road in the United States.
Q. Where on the surface of the earth does the wind blow hardest?
A. H. T.
Q. The Weather Bureau says that the wind is blowing from the west on earth. During the two years' residence in Adelle Island of Sir Douglas Mawson and his expedition, the explorer Mawson observed that the wind velocity was observed for March, 1912 was 49 miles; April, 51 miles; May, 50 miles; July, 1913, 63.33 miles. On the 15th of January, 1913, the wind for eight days maintained an average velocity of 107 miles an hour, probably the highest sustained velocity ever reported.
Q. Please tell me how many times a bushel of corn will make?
A. W.
Q. A ton of broom corn makes about 100 dozen brooms of ordinary size. The poorest broom is worth the center portion of the broom, and is called underworking; about this is placed a better quality known as selfworking, and this is in turn covered with the best quality, known as hair.
Q. When was the first fire alarm box used?
A. J. O. R.
Q. The earliest box was first used at Boston, Massachusetts, in 1851.
Q. What is a "taro oven"?
A. C. C.
Q. It is a bed of red hot volcanic rock over which, walk barefooted, priests at Calcutta are made to go to insure good crops in some of the Polynesian Islands. The volcanic rock used is a poor conductor of heat, so that while the stones of the ceremonial "taro oven" may be intensely hot underneath, the upper part will be only moderately warm.

HOROSCOPE
The stars incline, but do not compel. THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1921.
Astrologers read this as an important day. Venus is in an aspect highly encouraging to the affairs of men and women.
During this time no risks should be taken, but it is probable that temptation to speculate will be strong. Those who have the forecast of good fortune at this time. They should, however, pursue routine matters.
All the signs point to unusual stress being put on dress and agitation concerning the fashions will extend to many organizations.
Mars is in a place interpreted to forecast the death of a great soldier or physician.
Sickness among children may be on the increase during this government of the stars, and accidents may be numerous, particularly to usual. Reforms will be much debated while the influence of this month's lunation is strong.
The affliction of the Moon, ruler of the eleven hours, is not fortunate for Congress or other legislative bodies.
Financial matters will cause increased concern, but better influences will have power hereafter.
The wedding of royalty will start new agitation that may hasten great governmental changes.
Many marriages of the year will mark the spring of this year and disparity of age will be frequent.
Railway matters will not be satisfactory and there may be a great number of accidents.
Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a quiet year that should be very happy.
Children born on this day are likely to be quick, alert and nervous. These subjects of Pileon usually have a great desire for change and travel.

to Be Put in Operation
Rhinelander.—An automobile stage line will be placed in operation between Tomahawk and this city the coming summer, it is announced. The arrangement is made for the convenience of tourists and traveling men, the purpose being to connect this city with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul passenger trains. A large auto bus with a capacity of about 20 passengers has been purchased for the purpose. The company's headquarters are in Tomahawk. They also will have a bus in operation between Tomahawk and Merrill, and one between Tomahawk and Bradley.

A Slogan Contest
The Bank of Southern Wisconsin announces a Slogan Contest which is open to all the people of Janesville and vicinity.
We cordially invite you to prepare a set of five different slogans which will be used by this bank and different business firms in advertising Janesville—the city of prosperity and progress.
You know what a slogan is—a short phrase or sentence which will tell the whole story of Janesville in a few words.
"Push, plus prosperity equals Janesville."
"Janesville—Home of the Parker Pen."
"Janesville—Home of Lewis Underwear."
"The Paper"—in Janesville, means Gazette.
With a little effort you can think of dozens of them. For the best set of five slogans, we will award a prize of a $10.00 gold piece. The second best set will win a $5 gold piece, and the next five best sets will each be awarded $1.
Here's a chance to boost Janesville and to gain fame as a slogan writer. Mail your five slogans to the Bank of Southern Wisconsin at once or bring them to us personally.
Be sure to sign your name and address on each slogan. Start today!

Whitford told Stevens to bring in the fifty-five-dollar suit so that he could get it. He let out a whoop of delight at sight of his still-soldierly appearance. He examined the suit with chuckles of mirth. "Guaranteed not to fade or shrink," murmured Clay sadly. He managed to get the coat on with difficulty. The sleeves reached just below his elbows. "You look like a liver from Sing Sing," pronounced Whitford joyously. "Get a hair cut, and you won't have a chance on earth to fool the police." "The color did run and fade some," admitted Clay. "Worth every cent of nine ninety-eight at a sale before the Sweden got busy with it and let you have it at a sacrifice for fifty-five dollars!" The millionaire wept happy tears as a citizen of the town. He noticed the fine cigar smoke and had to be patted on the back by his daughter.

"Would you mind getting your man to wrap it up for me?" I'm going to have a pleasant surprise for my dear old father," said Clay with mock meanness. "When?" asked Whitford promptly. "Never you mind when, son. I'm not issuing any tickets of admission. It's going to be a strictly private entertainment." "Are you going to take a water lounge?" "That's right," rejoined Clay. "Make fun of me because I'm a stranger and come visit from the alfalfa country. I'm turned to Beatrice cheerfully. 'O' course, he's got me and proper. I'm green. But I'll bet he loses that smile awful quick when he sees me again." "You're not going to—"

"Mc, I'm the genuine citizen in Janesville. Never in trouble. Always peaceable and quiet. Don't you get to thinkin' me a bad-man, for I ain't."

Jenkins came to the door and announced. "Almost on his heels a young man in immaculate riding-clothes sauntered into the room. He had the assured ease of one who has the run of the house. Mr. Whitford introduced the young man and Bromfield looked the Westerner over with a suave insolence in his dark, handsome eyes.

"Clay recognized him immediately. He had shaken hands once before with this well-satisfied young man, and on that occasion a fifty-dollar bill had passed from one to the other. The New Yorker evidently did not know him.

"It became apparent at once that Bromfield had called to go riding in the Park with Miss Whitford. "Your bright young eyes looked into his. 'You'll come again and let us know how you escaped,' she invited.

"I'll certainly do that, Miss Whitford. Then we'll look for you Thursday afternoon, say."

"If the police don't get you."

"They won't," he promised serenely.

"When you're ready, Bee," suggested Bromfield in a bored voice. "She nodded casually and walked out of the room like a young Diana.

"I believe not," was the cool reply. "Does it resemble your handwriting?"

"Yes, sir. I think I don't."

"Do you swear that it does not resemble your handwriting?"

"Yes, I do."

"You take your solemn oath this writing does not resemble yours in a single letter?"

"Yes, sir."

"Now, how do you know that?"

"Cause I can't write."

Adam Handy and his wife live in the country because they like it; also because Mr. Handy is a landowner and an enthusiast in the useful art.

Before that winter was almost over, and with his hands toiling for his garden tools, Mr. Handy painted a sign announcing his name and address, and nailed it in front of his house.

He got results, for Adam is a good gardener and reliable, but he was derided by his neighbors for such a thing before they talked business.

To all the world but Adam, the reason was plain, for he had ignored the rules of spelling in his sign, which was complete read.

"A dam Handy Gardener."

"I have called sir, to see if you will send your subscription to our society for converting the heathen. Last year you gave sixpence."

"What! Aren't they converted yet?"

Even people who borrow trouble have to be read.

Mass Meeting Probable Friday On Baseball Situation

"MUS KEEPER TEAM" IS FEELING AMONG FANS AND OTHERS

(JANESVILLE, Wis., March 10.)—A mass meeting has been called by Manager George E. Walsh for Friday night, at 8 o'clock, at the city hall, to discuss the baseball situation. All people interested in seeing Janesville continue to have a real baseball team are urged to be on hand.

(JANESVILLE, Wis., March 10.)—It would be glad to give the ball team my moral support and a little financial aid, but as to taking a leading part in running a meeting, I would not care to do so at this time," said Mayor Walsh, when found at noon Thursday. Let Walsh, who is one of the leading baseball boosters in the city, take the initiative, he declared. "We are too busy at this time with the Mercy hospital drive, which must come first."

What is the next step in the baseball situation? That is the only question on the tongues of the fans in Janesville. To meet the necessity of prompt action to meet the problem that has dropped from supposedly clear skies, sentiment is rapidly rising that the Samson team must not be dissolved, nor must any of its members be left high and dry so far as this city is concerned.

While no official statement has yet been made, it is probable that Mayor Walsh will call a mass meeting for Friday night. The purpose of it would be, to discuss an emergency plan for financing the team and keeping it here for this season.

Players Suspectible. The players are ready to remain here as the fans are to have them. Several of them have set up their homes in the community, have brought their wives and families here, and are not in any way desirous of breaking away to seek other climes.

It is understood that Mayor Walsh, John Kennedy, Louis Levy and Frank Crook are particularly interested in forming some plan for holding the team. This will be brought out at an meeting that is held.

May Form Association. Another plan in mind is to form a Janesville Athletic Association, getting as many members as possible from among the sportsmen of the city at perhaps $2 a throw, the proceeds to go toward the $10,000 necessary to guarantee to the players. The plan is to have a "guarantee" for that they will be paid for the season. This, it is said, would give the fan who cannot afford to give much money towards keeping the team, a chance to do his share in retaining the team.

Company's decision was the only talk of the town Wednesday and Thursday. "We cannot afford to let the boys go in these times of depression," declared the majority.

Some of the expressions follow: "What Some Say." "I would like to see the problem solved and the team kept."

J. E. Houck, traffic manager Samson, "Of course you know that the General Athletic plan will cover the country have found it advisable to drop baseball this year. I would like to see the town take it up, for the game would help a great deal." He mentioned Chevrolet and North-West Motors as two.

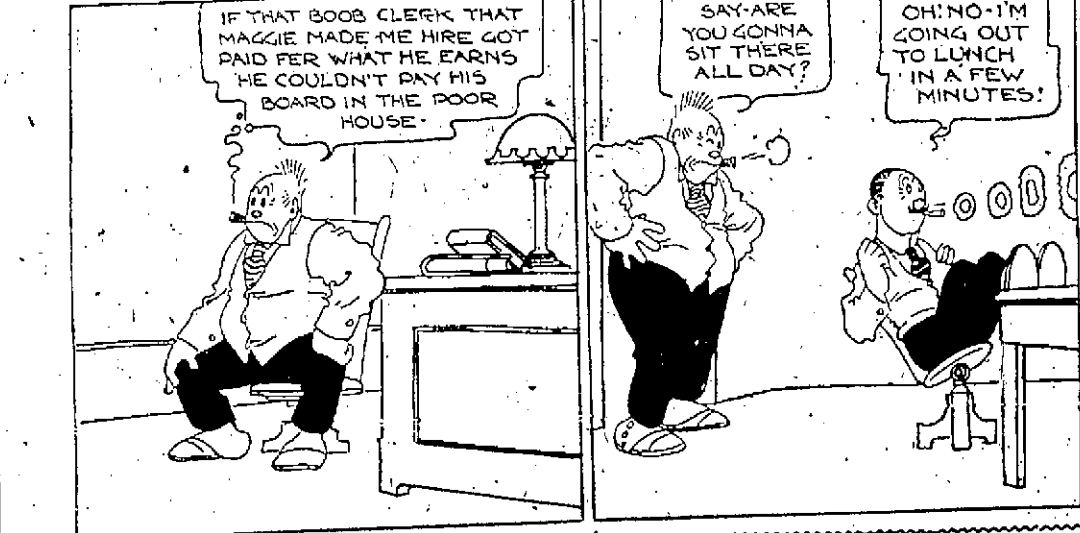

George Kueck, printer, "Let us get out and work our heads off to keep the boys here."

Leigh J. Woodworth, city sanitary inspector, "I hope a way can be found to keep the boys here."

Roger G. Cunningham, city attorney, "It is a big problem to find the money, but I would like to see the team held here."

Joseph Connors, retailer, "Pep-erine has talked with me about the matter and I certainly would like to see the people of the city take up the matter of keeping the team."

BLUES PLAY UNION IN FIRST BATTLE OF BASKET MEET

Whitewater—Janesville high will play Milton Union at 4 o'clock Thursday. Other drawings are Madison and Evansville at 7:30, Watertown vs. Jefferson at 7:30, Wisconsin vs. Waterloo at 8:30.

With the student body cheering wildly as the train pulled out, the members of Janesville high school basketball team departed for the Whitewater sectional interscholastic basketball tournament at 10:30 Thursday morning. They will play in their first game at 2:30 Thursday afternoon. Their opponent was to be picked just before start of the game.

The most continues Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Correct lists of competitors was given out Thursday by Charles Agnew, director. It follows: Madison High, Wisconsin High, Watertown, Milton Union, Jefferson, Watertown, Evansville and Janesville. Winners of the tournament will attend the state tournament at Madison.

Awards to the winning teams will be made in the men's gymnasium after the final games Saturday afternoon. Manager Gorton of the Whitewater faculty will present them. First prize is a silver loving cup and individual gold basketball fobs; second, individual silver basketball fobs; third, individual bronze basketball fobs.

STARS TO PLAY BELOIT CHAMPS

Janesville All-Stars will invade Beloit Thursday night to tackle the winners of the church basketball league of the Gateway city. The locals leave here on the 6:55 interurban.

Saturday night, the Stars will be seen on the city floor here against the Beloit Y-M-C-A. winners of the factory and "Y" leagues of the town to the south. The Beloit five claims the amateur title of Southern Wisconsin, having won 23 out of 22 games.

Future dates of the Stars take them to Watertown on the 10th and bring the Madison Cardinals here March 12. They also are making preparations to enter the A. A. U. tournament at Chicago April 4-5-6.

FIGHT DECISIONS

Milwaukee—Rocky Kansas received the newspaper decision over Richie Mitchell in 10 rounds. New Orleans—Martin Burke won the decision over Bob Roper in 10 rounds. St. Louis—Andy Chaney defeated Kid Rando in eight rounds. New York—Tex Rickard announced Rocky Kansas had been matched with Willie Jackson, who takes the place of Champion Benny Leonard, the latter being ill with influenza. New York—Al Roberts knocked out Gunboat Smith in the tenth round of a 12-round match.

St. Paul's defeating the Baptists 12-7 and the First Lutheran winning from the Presbyterian 15-9 in the last minute of play by a pretty shot of Gunness.

Two baskets in the last half by Decker put the Presbyterians in the lead with a 5 point margin. Jersild shot a long one for the Lutherans and Gunness near the basket applied his problem. The game with two neat baskets. Ron Meyers, with his clever guarding featured for the Presbyterians.

The first half of the U. B. St. Paul game ended at 4-4. In the second half the St. Paul team ran away from the U. B.'s, garnering 8 points to the Lutherans' 3.

The schedule for the rest of the 45 games which it is planned to play before the close of the season, will be drawn up this week and admission fee of 10 cents will be charged at each game, until the close of the season. No admission has been charged up to this date. The game will be applied with problem. Indicated to the members of the winning team.

St. Paul, Minn.—The St. Paul baseball club, 1920 champions of the local "lightweight" league, here last night, Mitchell is planning to retire for a few months. It was announced after the bout.

Form Midwest Ball League With Fairies as Members

The old Chicago baseball league is no more. After a struggle through 1920, during which they had a number of arguments with the Central Industrial League and ended up by suspending the Samson Tractors, Fairies and others for playing with the Staleys of Decatur, Ill., whom they had blacklisted, the Windy City went out of existence Wednesday with the formation of the Chicago Midwest Baseball league.

Among the members of the new circuit are the Beloit Fairies, Simmons Bed of Kenosha, Joliet, Chicago, Potomac, Chicago Logan Square and the Chicago Marquette. The officers are: President, Billy Nissen, Chicago; secretary, Al Chubb, Beloit; treasurer, Jimmie Callahan, Chicago.

The Chicago league tried hard to even matters up and get back on its feet, but could get no aid from a number of teams with whom they had trouble last year. Baseball men and those close to those circles knew of the difficulties, which were kept quiet through a stormy winter. Some effort was made by the Chicagoans to get back in the graces of the Central Industrial, but they were scorned. It is expected that the old Chicago league will continue in name and attract new members to it.

Chicago—The Central A. A. U. basketball championship in the unlimited weight class and the 135-pound class will be decided here March 20 and 21 and April 4, 5 and 6. The tournament will be staged at the Broadway armory under the auspices of the Inter-city Basketball league.

Teeth cannot glisten with a film-coat on them. You who want white teeth must learn how to remove it. This week your druggist offers—free—a new way of teeth cleaning. Millions now employ it. Leading dentists everywhere advise it. Go make that test. One week's results will be a revelation.

Film—the great enemy But this is more than a beauty question. Film ruins millions of teeth. Most tooth troubles are now traced to it. Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary tooth paste cannot end it, so the tooth brush has left much of it intact. It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. All these troubles have been constantly increasing, because brushing failed to end that film.

Now a new dental era Dental science, after years of research, has found ways to combat film day by day. The methods have been proved efficient by many careful tests. High authorities endorse them. And millions of people now employ them, largely by dental advice.

Present this coupon for the 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. The results are quick and apparent. A little book tells the reasons for them. For your own sake learn how much they mean.

Seeking Funds for Buffalo Trip of Local Bowlers

Solicitation for funds to send the Janesville Bowlers to the National tournament of the American Bowling Congress at Tulsa, Okla., was started Thursday. Oscar Nelson, one of the members of the team, resigned so that he could go out for money without feeling he was being paid for himself. The resignation is in the hands of John Hagen, chairman of the committee.

In the first day of canvassing, Nelson collected $100. He is making favorable comments in his work, he reports.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Bowlers from New York, Chicago, Toledo, Cleveland and Dayton, Ohio, are scheduled to compete tonight in the five-man division of the American Bowling Congress tournament.

Two-man and individual bowlers were scheduled to start at 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

A.P. Election Returns Gathered With Speed, Accuracy and Skill

The speed and accuracy of the Associated Press in gathering election returns is shown in the following article sent out by The New York Evening Post.

The Post says: "The public knows little of the men to whom it really owes the things upon which it depends from day to day. People read in the newspapers the credit for great achievements in railroading, industry, great systems of distribution, finance, little realizing how many cases the real work is done by individuals just out of sight, whose names do not appear at all."

Praise Given Stuart
The recent death of Wilmer Stuart, head of the market and statistical departments of the Associated Press, brings to notice a case of just this kind. For whatever credit it may bring to the "headliners," it is just as much due to the men in the service who have carried out the plan. In Wilmer Stuart more than to any other man, the public owes the glory of having devised and conducted the intricate and effective system by which the newspapers receive the news of national elections."

The gathering of returns is described as follows:
Reports Out Election Night
The momentous public service done by the Associated Press in the prompt collection of election returns is strikingly emphasized in the wholly perfunctory character of the official canvass in Washington on February 9.

On that date the senate and house met in joint session and performed the rite of counting the votes of the electors chosen on November 2. It is appearing that the popular vote was counted in 174 minutes, as against 177 cast for the democratic, the vice-president with due solemnity declared that Warren G. Harding had been elected president and Calvin Coolidge vice-president of the United States. The scene was dignified and impressive, but not thrilling or very surprisingly "newsy."

News Given Quickly
But on the morning of election day, when the polls at New Ashford, Mass., closed at the unprecedented hour of 7:35 a. m., the news of how her 34 citizens had voted had been flashed across the continent.

The expedition of the popular indifference to the formalities at Washington is to be found in a casual commercial business meeting in a news dispatch dealing briefly with the official canvass.

"The formal vote as declared tallied with the informal returns known to the public on the day after the election."

Congress O. K.'s Press
In other words, congress had gone through the motions of making known what everyone had learned through the medium of the press not many hours after the balloting had ended. The task of assembling, confirming, tabulating, and announcing the results of a referendum in which 58,755,708 persons participated had occupied local, state, and national officials for three months. The election machine of the Associated Press accomplished the same thing overnight.

The present efficiency of the Associated Press election machine as exemplified on the night of November 9, is a monument to the memory of Wilmer Stuart, whose regrettable death occurred at a time when he was being congratulated by hundreds of publishers for the triumph of his genius and indomitable purpose. Some years ago the management foresaw the public necessity for a swift and sure determination of election results.

Stuart Builds Organization
Mr. Stuart, who for many years had been head of the market department in the New York office, was chosen to build such an organization.

The result was so to coordinate the work that the country could be divided into zones, each working independently in a sense but at the same time all functioning as a single machine. The election of a president is but a part of the task. Each zone must gather not only the news of general interest but those of merely local interest.

The work of Mr. Stuart and his lieutenants represents the most advanced effort in news gathering. It is a task which requires the performance of newspaper men have been chided for refusing to notice the half truths with the telling of which it is sometimes sought to discredit their profession.

For many, an explanation may be found in the consciousness that they have an honorable place in that great silent army of men who, like Mr. Stuart, are less concerned with the criticism of the uniform than with the opportunity for public service through the medium of an institution that recognizes no master but the truth.

50,000 Men Help
Some idea of this very efficient election machine can be gained. It is composed of over 50,000 men, of whom several hundred are highly trained election experts and as many more skilled accountants. It made constant use of a system of telephone wires which, extended in a single circuit, would reach around the globe five times. It employed telephone wires that could stretch across the United States, from Siberia to Petrograd, and, if permitted by the soviet government, a long distance toward home again. To keep the machine going fifteen hundred men were required at the election of a quarter of a million dollars.

Newspaper Responsibility
It is not so simple to grasp the importance of the service to the public which lies in the immediate and accurate gathering of election returns. Resort to comparisons will help. George Washington had been elected president two months when he found it out. Warren G. Harding knew that he had been elected before the polls had closed in California.

Relies on Official Figures
The Associated Press does not supervise the voting or count the ballots. Its work begins when it receives the final figures from the local official counters. There may have been intimidation or ballot box stuffing. The concern of the election reporter must be with the totals handed him. However, the election system of the great news organization in its very workings has reduced the possibility of successful fraud to a minimum.

Any discrepancy between the grand totals arrived at election night and the results of the official canvass would be noted at once and become the subject of a searching investigation. If not by the state, as insured by the press in self-defense.

Accuracy Is First
The speed with which the election machinery works will most fascinate the popular imagination, but accuracy is the first essential in the gathering and tabulation of returns. To this, when necessary, speed must be sacrificed. All returns received are confirmed and checked before they go to the tabulators. All the work of the tabulators is done in duplicate.

New Ambassador Urges Economic Cooperation Between Italy and U. S.

New York.—When Senator Rolandi Ricci, Italy's new ambassador to this country, who has just arrived, was appointed to the Washington post, it was said that Premier Giolitti desired him because of his industrial mind and the belief that he would aid greatly in furthering commercial relations with this country. After the new ambassador had been greeted by Italian officials in this country he expressed a keen desire to co-operate in the development of economic relations between Italy and the United States. He also said he would take up the question of Italian immigration.

"The warlike state of mind is dying away in Italy as quickly as in the rest of western Europe," says Ricci. "We Italians are accustomed to hang our linen up in the sunshine after it has been washed, and are accustomed even to dispute in a loud voice among ourselves while doing the washing. Any one seeing and hearing us, but not understanding our temperaments and being interested in speculating Never Predicts Result.

In harmony with this policy, the Associated Press never predicts an election result. Guessing and speculation are rigidly forbidden.

On the morning after the presidential election of 1916, many newspapers, but not all, announced that Hughes had been elected. That announcement represented the judgment of their editors, based in part on the Associated Press figures then available, but more largely influenced by the fact that New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois were known to be safely in the republican column. By all the old time rules of prediction, bolstered by the confident claims of republican committeemen, President Wilson had been defeated.

Sticks to Figures.
But the actual figures did not say so, and the Associated Press stuck to the figures. There was every temptation to join the vast majority which had "announced" the seemingly most certain result, and it is to the everlasting credit of the news organization that it was willing to sacrifice any prestige it might otherwise have gained in order to fulfill its solemn mission of reflecting the exact situation from hour to hour.

On Thursday morning for the first time the figures show the reelection of President Wilson, and the Associated Press was the first to announce that fact.

Ambassador Vittorio Rolando Ricci above, and D. A. Constantini.

about us, seeing that some of the linen is tattered and torn, and hearing us disputing heatedly as to who is responsible for the wear and tear, pictures us abroad, especially here in North America, as a people restless without order, without discipline, always ready for strikes, revolutionary and Bolshevik.

"None of this is true. No European people has come out of the war with so firm a purpose to work, and zont has put it into practice so quickly."

Harvests New Profitable
Agriculture, the first native Italian industry, has now annual harvests as profitable as ever. Notwithstanding the great reduction made by the war, we have already reconstructed the number of cattle we had before the war. Fruit growing is becoming a real industry in many places. There is every reason to hope for a notable increase in grain production.

"The electrical industry is the greatest in Italy in the matter of capital invested. All the textile industries, particularly those of silk, cotton, wool and hemp, are very largely exporting. The siderurgical and metallurgical industries are still hampered by the excessive price of coal and by the cost of raw materials, and are passing through a period of difficulties.

"The industry of hides also is undergoing the general reduction of prices prevailing throughout the world market and particularly on account of the stock of shoe leather in Italy and interference of government control, which has had the effect of stiffening our home market. I am liberal, not only in the matter of economics and financial matters.

"An attempt in which American initiative should take part is that of the search for petroleum in Italy, and still more the installation of plants in Italian ports for the discharging and distribution of imported petroleum and its products by means of pipe lines and accessories to the districts of consumption. Such installation would be a remunerative enterprise. Otherwise we shall be obliged at the proper time to come to an understanding with Russia and England."

Must Combine Ocean Interests
"For carrying on the industry of ocean transportation I believe that it is also necessary to combine American and Italian interests. If news already published about certain combinations of shipping interests are correct, I believe that it would be successful and convenient for American and Italian interests to foster their combination for the commercial operation of a fleet of steamers of suitable size whereby the excess of American tonnage and the abundance of skilled personnel of the Italian marine could work for a reciprocal benefit. I hope that this subject will receive the most favorable attention of Italian and American shipowners."

Funds in Good Shape.

"Italy stands as always stood for uprightness in international relations. It respects difficulties, delays, and we must frankly say, even thefts during transportation. But I beg those who complain against such inconveniences to be posted about what happens in England and elsewhere. After all, all countries are more or less alike. Transportation needs to be organized and better assured everywhere. In Italy things are not going worse than outside, perhaps even in America."

"Italy possesses remarkable and noteworthy energy which will bring about a reconstruction relatively short in time. I should strongly believe that Italy in her efforts is entitled to a better support from her foreign friends. They must thoroughly understand their moral duty of co-operation to Italy, whose entry into the war and whose conduct during the war has been as generous as it was glorious. They must remember that Italy has attained the greatest victory of the whole war by destroying the anachronistic Hapsburg empire."

Fins All Keep Busy, Due to Bar on Imports

Copenhagen.—There is no unemployment in Finland, says E. Viljamaa, chief of the trade and industry department of the Finnish government, who is visiting here. He attributed Finland's good fortune in this respect, as compared to most other countries, to the prohibition of imports. This had the effect of making the country's industrial production greater than at the beginning of the war. Finland is now producing more goods than it consumes, and the advisability of gradually discontinuing the embargo on imports, he said. This country has begun to transship goods for Russia and has established a free port at Hangö.

Jail Prisoners Allowed Vacation Over Week-End

Pago, Pago, Samoa.—American Samoa has a jail system that probably would appeal to prisoners in the states. Every Saturday afternoon at the American post, the civil prisoners are granted parole until 6 o'clock Monday morning. Most of the prisoners spend their week-ends visiting relatives, many going long distances. Parole rules were tightened recently when it was found several of the prisoners ransacked quarters of the naval officers at Tutuila while enjoying their Saturday night freedom. The men received heavy sentences, without the parole privilege.

Hydro-Electric Power Plant at Prairie du Sac

A Safe Wisconsin Hydro-Electric Investment Available in $100-$500-$1000 Amounts Yielding 8%

Wisconsin River Power Company

Ten-Year 7% Collateral Gold Notes, Series "A" Due February 1, 1931

Price 93¼ and interest, yielding 8%

The advantages of generation of electricity by hydro-electric developments were never better illustrated than during the past several years when labor and fuel—two inconsiderable items in hydro-electrical generation—were at such high levels.

From the plant above illustrated radiate miles of transmission lines which carry electrical energy to a large portion of Central and Southern Wisconsin, lighting its homes, turning its factory wheels, running its street cars and performing hundreds of other functions formerly accomplished more tediously and expensively by other means. This 300 foot power house and 1000 foot dam, spanning the Wisconsin River near Prairie du Sac, is one of the largest and most efficient hydro-electric plants in Wisconsin.

The widely diversified demands of the territory served by this Company provide a sure and increasing market for its output. The Company supplies electrical energy at wholesale, under long term contracts, to a large portion of Central and Southern Wisconsin; a substantial proportion of the power required for the operation of street and interurban railways in and around Milwaukee; the total light and power requirements of the Madison Gas & Electric Company; the major portion of the electric light and power requirements of the Janesville Electric Company, the Wisconsin Light & Heat Company and several other public utility companies, as well as the requirements of the Samson Tractor Company, a subsidiary of the General Motors Corporation.

In addition to the assurances of safety afforded by nature of the Company's business and the splendid territory which it serves, these notes are secured by deposit of $150 of the Company's First Mortgage 5% Bonds for each $100 in notes outstanding. The Company, moreover, is obligated to make annual payments into a sinking fund which will retire 25% of the total issue before maturity.

The Company's earning capacity shows a wide margin over fixed charges. Its management is indirectly controlled by the Middle West Utilities Company, one of the largest public utility organizations in the country, thus assuring it of the benefit of capable and experienced management.

We recommend these notes for investment. A more complete description of the issue will be sent upon request for circular. If I. Orders may be transmitted by telephone or wire at our expense. Shipment of bonds will be made at our risk and expense to any responsible bank in Wisconsin for delivery to purchasers.

HARDING MAY SEND ROOT TO EUROPE

President Asks Aid in Shaping United States Policy Abroad.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
Washington.—President Harding has asked Elihu Root to assist in shaping the policy of the United States toward Europe, particularly in connection with the association of nations.

Whether Mr. Root will go abroad as head of a special mission or will stay on this side as the American delegate to an international conference of diplomats is undetermined but the chances are that Mr. Root will sail for Europe just as soon as the Harding administration is ready to take the European governments into its confidence.

While this kind of negotiation ordinarily would be conducted by American ambassadors and ministers abroad, all of them were appointed by the Wilson administration and it is not feasible to put into the hands of the new appointees such a delicate task until they have had a chance to be on the ground long enough to familiarize themselves with European conditions.

Root Well Qualified.
Elihu Root, on the other hand, spent many months in Europe last winter in connection with the making of the international court of justice, and he already has had all the background and knowledge necessary to negotiate with foreign governments. Not only has he been secretary of state but he represented the United States at the Second Hague conference and is presently attending a conference of American statesmen and treaty experts.

Mr. Root has not sought office nor is he eager to accept any permanent post abroad, as has been urged by so many of his friends, but he told Mr. Harding he agreed to give any assistance he could in matters of foreign policy. There is close friendship between Secretary Charles Evans Hughes of the state department and Mr. Root, and there is every assurance of cooperation between the two distinguished statesmen.

Friend of League.
Of course Mr. Root is friendly to the existing league of nations and while he never did subscribe to the covenant, advocating reservations similar to those proposed by Senator Lodge, he does believe that much of the machinery of the present league can be maintained. Mr. Root, moreover, wrote the republican national convention's platform on foreign policy, and the republican administration to an agreement with other nations covering the same general purposes as were sought by the covenant.

The appointment of Elihu Root, therefore, to negotiate with Europe, is merely the logical sequence of events in republican policy and Mr. Root has not changed his opinions in any way concerning the need for international cooperation through some such instrumentality as the covenant, he would endeavor to obtain an agreement with Europe that will remove the United States of any obligations, direct or indirect, to take up arms in European questions or that will plunge the United States into the maelstrom of European politics. In other words, the objects expressed by Mr. Harding in his inaugural address would be a chart of principles by which Mr. Root would be guided. To him would be entrusted the task of making an agreement with Europe that would square in detail with those principles.

May Frame New Body.
There are those who believe Mr. Root would be able to frame an entirely new association of nations and reconstruct the whole machinery of international intercourse on political questions as differentiated from judicial questions but on that point nobody here can do any more than conjecture for the opinions of European governments are being held in reserve, waiting, indeed, to examine the American proposals.

The sending of Mr. Root along with other distinguished Americans is expected to be a major move in the new administration's policy toward Europe and then was undertaken by the American peace commission of which President Wilson was a member. The Harding commission would investigate the opportunities for coming to an understanding and would bring back for the approval of the chief executive all the data necessary to formulate American policy which in turn would be submitted to the senate before any agreement would be finally closed with the other governments of the world.

Sank on Colombia Treaty.
Meanwhile, the desire to side-track foreign questions and handle domestic problems is for the moment not succeeding very well. President Harding has discovered that he has quite a fight on his hands to get the Colombia treaty through the senate. The friends of Theodore Roosevelt, who boasted that he "took Panama" and talked about it afterwards still feel that the payment of any indemnity to Colombia is a slap at the Roosevelt action. On the other hand, Senator Lodge, an intimate friend of the late president Roosevelt, is pressing for the ratification of the treaty and he has certain documents showing that Mr. Roosevelt in his last years felt that some settlement such as proposed in the treaty might well be made for the benefit of race relations. He did insist on the elimination of any clause expressing apology or regret and this having been done the friends of the treaty see no reason why the Roosevelt group shouldn't come into line and give the Harding administration

Credit for a beneficent act in Latin-American relations.

Democrats Committed to It.

The opposition, is not large enough to defeat the treaty for the democrats stand committed to it, having tried to secure ratification when President Wilson urged it. Mr. Harding was prevailed upon to send a message to congress to remove all doubt as to his own insistence of the need for ratification of the treaty with the nations to the south of us.

Midnight Witches May Have to Chase Off War

Washington.—Mystic rites of childhood for war removal, involving shivery midnight visits to loathsome, spook infested graveyards, the use of a rabbit's left hind foot with proper incantations and the like, may yet be necessary to chase war off potatoes. At least, the department of agriculture has not yet found other means to do the job. Its official witches have steamed, boiled, closed and otherwise, assailed the wart with inconclusive results, according to a report just published. They have not given up, however, and still hope to eradicate the plant disease from the country.

Potato wart infection is now limited to small area in Pennsylvania, due to a 1912 importation of "spuds" which later proved to be uncleanable. The experts have tried all kinds of chemical treatment of the soil and even steamed the ground before planting but without complete success.

Trotsky Man of Fire, Lenine Calm, Says Returned Sculptress

New York.—Mrs. Claire Sheridan, the sculptress, who became famous for her daring excursion into Russia in quest of the heads of Lenine and Trotsky—in clay—has arrived home. She has a fatigued though interested full of portrait busts of the famous Russian leaders.

Mrs. Sheridan is a rather striking-looking woman. Her hair is red, gold, bobbed, and she is now and again across her large convex forehead, concealing her restless eyes. She has a fatigued though interested air when interviewed.

"Understand," she said, "I know nothing about Russia. I mean politically or economically. I am interested purely and simply in character, in the psychological side of life. I am an artist first and last. I live in my art. It is the only satisfaction in life for me."

"Did you find Lenine an extraordinary interesting man?" "You must think that I am a Bolshevik propagandist," she smiled, and brushed the hair from her eyes. "But I do think that he is an extraordinary man. In fact, I have never seen such an extraordinary man before. He holds absolutely no communication with the world—personal, I mean. He is a man, and nothing comes through to him to change him."

"He is most amazingly reserved, and, by the way, he has a huge forehead, which I think rather beautiful. Trotsky, on the other hand, is entirely different. I think the two of them dovetail in a way. That way Trotsky is the genius, the man of fire; I have never seen such an extraordinary man before. He holds absolutely no communication with the world—personal, I mean. He is a man, and nothing comes through to him to change him."

"Have you brought the portrait busts with you, Mrs. Sheridan?" "Oh, of course. I have a huge trunk full of them. I shall exhibit them at my lectures. Do you know I had most extraordinary difficulty in getting those men to sit for me? Of course they were terribly busy and for weeks I waited and froze in Moscow before I could get to them. Trotsky was terribly stubborn."

"Winston Churchill, secretary of state in the British cabinet is Mrs. Sheridan's cousin. The question could not be restrained. "Was your cousin very enraged that you went to Russia?"

"Oh, he was furious when I came back. Of course he would not have allowed me to go if he had known, but I didn't tell any one, not even my mother, what I was going to do. Winston is perfectly furious with me and swears that he will never speak to me again. I had a wonderful time there, really. You can't imagine what it is like not to have to worry about anything, no income tax blanks to fill out, no rent, no taxes."

"But how about food?"

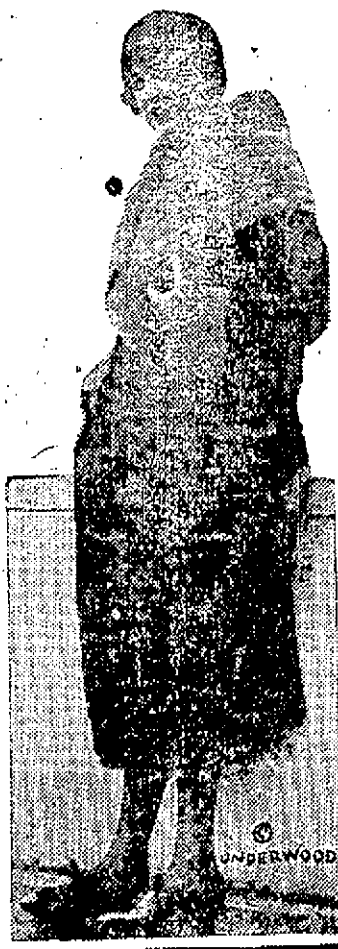

"Government ration, of course, and very bad food. Things are really in a bad way there. People really starve. It must seem unreal to you people, of course, a sort of myth has grown up."

Bank Lavatory Hides Door to Secret Safe

Vienna.—The wild speculation in foreign money here has caused renewed activity on the part of the police in raiding exchange coffee houses and private banks. They have secured many millions of crowns but made the biggest haul when they tapped the wall of a lavatory in one bank and found a concealed door to a safe in which were 2,000,000 crowns in American, English and other foreign values.

Several of the Janesville teachers who are graduates of Plattville Normal school, will attend the alumni meeting Friday evening at the First Baptist church.

Green Bay Has Not Frozen Over All Winter

Sturgeon Bay.—Up to the present time Green Bay has been on Green bay all winter and indications are now that there will not be enough cold weather to freeze the bay over. This is the first time this has taken place since 1876, according to old-timers, and that year the spring was also an early one.

Milwaukee Italian Has Large Appetite

Milwaukee.—John Giagianti, 33 years old, says that his ordinary good meal consists of 10 pounds of spaghetti or macaroni, two pounds of beef steak, one loaf of bread, one gallon of wine, olives, radishes and condiments. Giagianti hastens to remark that he does not sit down to a meal of this quantity or nature every day but that, by evidence of his friends, he does not need to go into training to consume this "load." He hangs plant during the day and has a wife and three children. At night he hauls two loads of garbage, a full night's work. On Saturday afternoon and Sunday, he sells pumpkin seeds to the Italians of the Third ward, who roast them as a delicacy.

Giagianti is not the physical monstrosity such an appetite would indicate. He is moderate in build, five feet eight or nine inches in height

Chance for Guards to Take Exams for W. Point

Madison.—There is an opportunity for three more members of the Wisconsin National Guard to take the final examination for West Point, March 1, if their names are telegraphed to the adjutant general at Madison at once. They must be members of the Wisconsin guard at the present time and must have had a year's service in the guard by July 1 or else have served long enough in the army or have had enough prior service in the guard and army to make a year when the former service is added to their present service in the guard. The candidates must be between nineteen and twenty-three years of age. The Wisconsin guard was originally given six candidates. Under the latest instructions from the adjutant general of the army the Badger guard is allowed twelve.
